It was first published in 1589, with a second edition published in 1589 as Geometria, practica, y traza. That second edition was re-published in 1979 as Tailor's Pattern Book 1589: Facsimile, by Juan De Alcega, with translation by Jean Pain & Cecilia Bainton. In the book, Alcega used the Castilian Eli, also known as the Bara, as his measuring system. Notations of the Eli and the Bara measurements can also be seen in Patterns of Fashion 3: The Cut and Construction of Clothes for Men and Women C. 1560-1620 by Janet Arnold. The books, The Modern Maker Vol. 1: Men's Doublets and The Modern Maker Vol. 2: Pattern Manual 1580-1640, are both by Mr. Allan Mathew Gnagy, a tailor and student of historical clothing for many years and with whom I have consulted for this class.

Measles, small pox, bubonic plague and leprosy each had a devastating impact on the affected populations. When early man lived in relatively isolated groups, contact with other individuals was infrequent and short-lived diseases (for either the disease or the host) were not able to spread by direct contact or through intermediaries such as rats, mosquitoes, etc. As people began to live closer together in towns, later in cities, and when lack of sanitation became more of a threat to health, transmission of diseases became easier and more common. Resistant individuals lived and the less-resistant died, thus selectively increasing resistance in the population as a whole. The gradual shoreline decline of health toll seen at recurrences of a particular plague was due to an increase in resistance within the population due to several factors. Modern medical investigations indicate that the same genetic makeup that allowed some people to survive or avoid bubonic plague are the same genetic makeup that allows some people to be HIV positive and not develop AIDS.

1665: Cut-and-Thrust Armor-as-Worn Tournament
Topic: Martial: Rapier
Wed Aug 7, 3:00 PM Rapier Tent 3

Armors that are well-crafted in combat can prevent or inhibit blows from being valid. No restrictions on weapons, armor, or shields; SCA and Pennsic rules still apply. You should discuss and agree to the effects of the armor they are wearing before each bout. Combatants should consider both the armor and the type of weapon being used.

Armor can make off-determining blow validity difficult on both sides. While it is still ultimately up to the receiver to decide whether a blow is valid, combatants are encouraged to talk to each other about it and ask the marshals or other observers for their opinion. Please do not be insulted if your opponent asks about a blow you clearly thought was not good.

When armor blocks a blow, hitting your opponent harder in order to get them to take it is never acceptable. You will kick people out of the tournament for hitting too hard.

Grappling is unfortunately not allowed. However, incidental contact between armored opponents’ weapons, shields, and bodies is inevitable and will be permitted to find openings in an opponent’s armor. If this develops into wrestling, the marshal will stop the fight and separate the combatants.

The general guidelines are these:

- Metal plates block all cuts and thrusts.
- Chain, brigandine, scale, etc., block cuts and only incidental or minor thrusts. Thrusts with significant “push,” bend of the sword, or two-handed thrusts (including half-swording) can penetrate these types of armor.
- Leather and thick padding block only incidental or minor cuts and thrusts.
- Modern materials such as perf plate, fencing mesh, modern butcher mail, and plastic do not count as armor, though may be worn for personal injury prevention.

Format: Woods Battle, unlimited resurrection, no siege, combat archery, or thrown weapons.

Passes: One.
Time Limit: 90 minutes with a banner count at 30, 60, and 90 minutes +/- 4 minutes (at each check).

The exact variant of the check is determined by the marsheals prior to the start of the battle and is not revealed to combatants. Medical holds are general holds and stop the clock. Only medical holds can stop the clock. At the conclusion of each round, except medical, are assumed to be local and do not stop the clock.

Description: There will be four banners located in the woods: three fixed banners located in a stagger along a line equidistant from the Eastern and Middle resurrection points plus one one banner 300 ft closer to the Middle and one 300 ft closer to the East, one banner dead center and one mobile banner (in the same center as the banner center).

The mobile banner will start the battle in the absolute center of the woods. After it is captured it may be moved. There will be a zone delineated as a band across the center of the woods 300 ft wide 30 minutes at the beginning to explain the rules and answer questions.
Each scenario will run 20 minutes with time between to reset.
There will be a bonus round at the end to determine the "Hot Shot".
Throw weapons, combat archery, and siege are allowed.
No rattan weapons allowed unless they are thrown weapons.
All thrown weapons must be inspected before the day of battle and painted.
Players must set up 5-ft space required to throw/shoot at a target.
Not "clear the bow".
Shields cannot be stacked on top of each other to create an impenetrable wall.
Pavises may be moved, but must be placed prior to use.
Engines are destroyed by taking 3 siege rounds or being reduced to lower than required crew members.
The field will be 200 ft (east/west) by 150 ft (north/south).
Siege engines will be restricted to a 50-ft-wide area inside the east and west sides of the field. This will be considered a "no person's land" except for engine crews.
Across the middle of the field will be 3 flags placed at 25 ft, 75 ft, and 125 ft. Between the left and middle flags there is a wall of double-stacked hay bales 30 ft long with a 30 degree banking effect. Each engine will have a 10 ft and 20 point area. Arrows/thrown weapons cannot shoot over the wall, but ballistas can.
Between the center and right flags there is a pond with a bridge over it. The pond is an oval 50 ft long by 20 ft wide with a 10-ft-wide bridge between the two flags. All missiles/shots may shoot over the bridge and lake.
Knights may walk through the water to simulate being on horseback. There will be a one-way point, best 2 of 3 scenarios. All scenarios will be fought regardless of the scores.
Scenario rules:
Scenario 1: Combat archery and thrown weapons allowed. No siege. Victory condition: Control the flags at 3 random time checks (marshals-determined day of and kept confidential). Control is determined by color of the banner at time check. Contested banners will not count. Each banner will count individually. Winner is determined by control of 5 of 9 (or majority) total banner counts. Unlimited resurrection allowed. 20 minute battle.
Scenario 2: Siege only. No combat archery or thrown weapons. Victory condition: Destroy the enemy siege engines. Siege crews are committed to their respective engines at start of battle. Engines may have extra crew but after lay-on, crew cannot join or transfer engines. Engines are destroyed when the crews are reduced to one person or hit with 3 siege rounds. If both armies have engines surviving at the end of battle, winner is determined by the team that has the most engines still operational. 20-minute battle.
Overall rule: We may implement an advancing forward line at 5-minute increments. To be determined by the marshals at the beginning of the scenario.
Scenario 3: Combined Armored/Rapier Mountain Battle
Victory condition: Last man standing. Winner is army to eliminate their opponent. If both armies still have fighters at the time limit, winner is side with more survivors. 20-minute battle.
Bonuses on Scenarios:
At the direction of the CA/Siege marshals, a target will be set up and each archer/engine will be given 3 shots to test accuracy. This will not have bearing on the War Point, but can be used for bragging rights until next year! Best score wins in each category: Siege Direct, Siege Indirect, CA Crossbow, CA Longbow.

Meetings
1800: How to Design a Class People Will Love Topic: Meetings
Instructor: Lord Magnus McKinley
Mon Aug 6, 5:30 PM HordeU, Great Dark Horde, Horde Hill (E10)
Most classes delivered in the SCA fall into two specific types: lectures and hands-on instruction. While each of these is a valuable instructional technique, they each only represent a single learning style. Most students need to have multiple learning styles addressed by a workshop to get the greatest value and the highest retention of instruction from that workshop. This class is designed to address some of these issues, give a structure to designing classes, and provide a broader range of experiences to students. We will combine the concepts of instructional systems design with experiential learning techniques to show you how to achieve higher student engagement.

Instructor: Pennsic Performing Arts
Mon Aug 5, 3:00 PM &S 9
Meet your fellow bards. While many of us already know each other, this will give newcomers a chance to match names to faces.

Day 1: I’ve Got This Idea for a New Bardic Event.
Bard-focused events seem to be gently on the rise, and that is a good thing. We have Bardic Madness and its offshoots, Known World Cooks & Bards, improvisation events (i.e., Bozuff, Njal’s Saga, Day of Decameron), and various competitions. What else could we do? Are there other formats/approaches we should try? What other sorts of bard-centric events would we like to see take place?

Day 2: Hot Topic

Instructor: Pennsic Performing Arts
Tue Aug 6, 3:00 PM &S 9
Day 2: Hot Topic. There are potentially touchy must, deal with, be it a criticism of a SCA/dian’s actions, dealing with tragic real-world events, or religious source material. Dealing with these things can be cathartic for some, but possibly trigger others. How do we, either as author/performer or an audience, deal with such issues?

In an ideal Society, artisans create work for the joy that it brings them, and Laurels give feedback to fulfill the mission of their peerage to help encourage and teach others. How can feedback be given or received properly, hurt feelings can (and do!) occur. Artisans can be discouraged from pursuing their ideas, with Laurels being branded as being mean. But it needn’t be! Both of these outcomes are hurtful to the fabric of our Society. So let’s examine the issue, and figure out how we can help change the culture of how feedback is given and received in the SCA so that everyone can work together to create a better and more supportive Arts and Sciences community. Hosted by the East Kingdom Ministry of Arts & Sciences.

The idea of this class is to consider the ways in which you can become a more authentic version of the medieval person you want to be. We will explore ways to improve your representation of material culture, consider how a medieval version of yourself might have viewed the world, and learn ways to validate and authenticate your sources. Additionally, with the expansion of the SCA's allowed regions, resources will be available to consider exploring non-Western personas (and navigate ways in which to do so gracefully). If you happen to have source books for your persona or others, please bring them! We can look at them as time allows.
